

Professional Client Notification

In accordance with applicable regulatory requirements, Interactive Brokers categorises each client as either a retail client or professional client.

This is to notify you that Interactive Brokers has categorised you as a professional client in general.

You have been categorised as a professional client either because you are deemed to be a professional client under applicable rules (for instance, where you are authorised or regulated to operate in the financial markets) or you have requested to be treated as a professional client, expressly waiving your treatment as a retail client, and we have agreed to treat you as such.

A professional client has fewer regulatory protections than a retail client. For differences in the regulatory protections of retail clients versus professional clients, refer to <https://ibkr.info/node/3298>.

A professional client has the right to request re-categorisation to be treated as a retail client, but we may not accept such a request. You can initiate the request from the Client Portal.

Informing us about change

You are responsible for keeping Interactive Brokers informed about any change which could affect your categorisation. It is your responsibility to ask for a higher level of protection if you deem that you are unable to properly assess or manage the risks involved.
